GREAT
American and Foreign Office,
—FOR—
Securing Patents for Inventions.

AGENCY FOR BUSINESS WITH THE U. S. PATENT OFFICE, WASHINGTON.

R. H. EDDY,
No. 76 State Street, opposite Kilby St.,
BOSTON.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS.—The subscriber, (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office under the Act of 1837,) determined to present advantages in applying for patents, superior to those offered inventors by others has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection.

This agency is not only the largest in New England, but through it inventors have advantages for securing patents, or ascertaining the patentability of inventions unsurpassed by, if not immeasurably superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere. The testimonials below given prove that none is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the subscriber, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe, and can prove, that at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense practice of the subscriber, during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. These, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, render him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all Papers and Drawings necessary to the procural of patents in this and foreign countries, prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents. All necessity of a journey to Washington to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

Copies of the claims of any patent furnished for one dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington. Patents secured in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries, through agents of the highest respectability.
R. H. EDDY, Solicitor of Patents.

TESTIMONIALS.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents R. H. EDDY, Esq. of Boston, did business at the Patent Office as Solicitor for procuring Patents. There were few, if any, persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.
EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

[From the present Commissioner.]

"AUGUST 17, 1855.—During the time I have held the office of Commissioner of Patents R. H. Eddy, Esq. of Boston, has been extensively engaged in the transaction of business with the Office, as a Solicitor. He is thoroughly acquainted with the law, and the rules of practice of the office. I regard him as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse.

Wilbor's Compound of Pure Cod Liver Oil and Lime,
A CURE FOR CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, AND ALL SCROFULOUS HUMORS.

TESTIMONIAL.

☞ Let all read the following, which is but one of the many testimonials being constantly received.

Dr. WILBOR—Dear Sir:—I have found in the course of a long and extensive practice that the seeds of Consumption are by no means to be found as arising from a few individual causes, but that any serious draft upon the physical constitution may leave the sufferer in that predisposed condition which induces disease. Thus in fever, in severe colds and in rheumatic affections, those great chambers of the human frame, the lungs, being perhaps the nicest and most sensitive organization of the human organization, are made to be the principal sufferers, and the left lung, which is smaller than the right, is generally the principal seat of disease. Consumption consists of such an admixture of the air vessels as prevents a free circulation in the matter of respiration as is necessary to pass air in and out. Health cells of the chest. While the natural respiration of the lungs continues it is impossible to contract the disease in its worst form.

In a series of long practice I had found Cod Liver Oil a great and efficient agent. I chanced to see your notice of the article prepared by you, and knowing Cod Liver Oil and Lime [illegible] the propriety of your combination [illegible] years of experiment [illegible] and well knowing the medical properties of the Lime, which are reproducing and healing, [illegible] in the treatment of Consumption.

I accordingly applied your remedy and in five months of constant practice have found the result most surprising. Since the first trial I have depended almost entirely in all consumptive cases upon your Cod Liver Oil and Lime. I have found the medical qualities of healing and natural tonic, and that the lime aided materially the process of restoration of the diseased cells of the lungs which have decayed from various causes. Moreover, I have, after a careful analysis of your preparation, satisfied myself that it not only answers the immediate want of the physician, as it regards a curative agent, but also as a substance it continually strengthening the [illegible] of the system and thus giving to a consumptive invalid just what is wanted, viz: the means of sustaining the body while the required cure is effected.

Having carefully tested these facts to my entire satisfaction, in an extended practice I do not hesitate to say to all consumptive invalids—Try Wilbor's Cod Liver Oil and Lime.

Muriate of Lime!

The high price of the special manures, Guano, &c., first led to the composition of a fertilizer which should combine all their good qualities, but whose price should place it within the reach of the poorest of the cultivators of the soil. The increased demand of last season, together with the voluntary testimony of many who have tried it proved its efficacy, leads the manufacturer to believe that the object has been obtained in the Muriate of Lime, and has induced him to extend the facilities for its manufacture. It has been tried upon almost every variety of soil, but is especially adapted to Cereal Plants, Grass, Corn, Wheat, &c.

A pamphlet with testimonials, will be forwarded to any address, and all orders by mail, accompanied by the cash, punctually attended to. It is sold at the following fixed prices—For less than 10 Bbls $2 10 per Bbl over 10 Bbls $2,00 or in Bags of 150 lbs, $1 75 cts per bag, delivered at any depot or wharf in Boston, or Charlestown.

Movements in the Legislature.

On Monday, as will be seen by referring to the report of legislature proceedings, Mr. Shephard in the Senate, submitted resolutions relative to the action of that body in the effort to sweep from the bench of the Supreme Judicial Court, Judge Davis, on the charge of delivering a judicial opinion in opposition to the opinion of politicians who are now in control of the State Government. Mr. Shephard in presenting his resolutions remarked, with great truth and force, that the Senate, in its action in relation to this extraordinary measure, had proceeded thus far without the semblance of anything like official information. The charges against Judge Davis, as entered upon the journal of the Senate, are indeed nothing more than a condensed statement of what had been going the rounds for weeks past in an excited partisan press, and it seemed peculiarly improper that upon such evidence and such information the Senate should have proceeded to arraign one of the highest officers known to our laws. Not only is Judge Davis to be arraigned in this extraordinary manner, but he is also to be tried and condemned by those who thus arraign him. It is literally a case in which the accusers also become judges—against all rules of propriety, and against the most ordinary demands of justice. Mr. S. said that from his childhood he had been taught to respect and revere the Judiciary, and he thought we had fallen on evil days when a Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court is to be stricken down by a strict party vote, for mere party considerations. If the Legislature is thus to assume an extreme power and destroy the independence of a co-ordinate branch of the government, overawing it into abject submission, he thought the proper balance of our system was gone, and the tendency must be anarchy.

Mr. Barnes the engineer of the proceeding against Judge Davis, admitted that a necessity existed for the appointment of a committee, but that no testimony or witnesses would be admitted.

An order was passed for a joint committee to report the order of proceedings for the hearing of Judge Davis, and Messrs Farley, Shepherd and Bathes were appointed on the part of the Senate. This order in the House was laid upon the table, where it remained at the adjournment on Monday.

Copper-coated Iron Spikes, Bolts, &c.

Captain William Flowers has engaged in the business of furnishing to the ship-builders in this portion of the State, a very desirable article in the shape of iron spikes and bolts, so coated with copper as to be greatly superior for ship-building, to those made of entire copper. The surface of the iron is preserved in a perfectly clean metallic state or at the high heat to which it has to be subjected, before it can be dipped in the melted copper. After the iron has been cleansed by rubbing and pickling, it is dipped for a moment in sulphuric acid, then withdrawn, and the adhering acid quickly dries up on the surface of the plate by holding it over the fire. The iron thus covered with a thin adherent coat of sulphate, is then again dipped in a thick slip of rather fusible clay, which is dried up as before by exposure to the fire. The plates thus coated, are placed in a suitable furnace, and raised to a heat considerably above the melting point of copper; in this state they are dipped, one at a time, in a bath of copper kept in a state of fusion in a reverbatory furnace. The clay coating of the plate, rendered still more fusible by the silicate and sulphurate of iron formed at the heat employed, separates as a fluid slag on the surface of the bath, as the iron plunges beneath it, and the iron is withdrawn covered with a uniform coating of melted copper. The toughness of both the iron and copper is unimpaired, while their adhesion to each other is such that no amount of working and bending at sharp angles, as in a lap joint, occasions any separation. Experiments have proved that spikes thus prepared will resist destruction three hundred and four times as long as iron spikes not coated.

The inventor of this mode is Mr. E. G. Pomeroy, and his invention is hailed as a great acquisition to the arts. See advertisement in another column.

We commence to-day the publication of a series of letters from abroad, which we are quite sure will be read with much interest.—These letters are written by one of the young men of our city who is spending some time abroad, and who travels with his eyes open, and his mind active; and who carries with him an indomitable industry, a rich inheritance derived from his father. We have seen many letters from his pen, and have at length the high satisfaction of enriching our columns with his observations. It may not be improper to say that the author is Mr. William J. Maltby, son of Rev. John Maltby, Pastor of the Hammond street church.

The Republicans of Michigan held a convention last week, at Ann Arbor, which the Detroit Tribune pronounces one of the largest and most enthusiastic conventions ever held in that State. Effective speeches were made by Gov. Bingham and prominent men. Strong anti-Nebraska resolutions were passed, and delegates chosen to represent the State in the National Convention to be held at Philadelphia.

J. Pechlaris de Frandin, of Agen, France, has obtained a patent for making paper from the stalks of the artichoke and those of the sunflower, by a process peculiar to the inventor. They are said to make a beautiful quality of paper.

The Philadelphia Ledger says that the Kentucky delegates to the Cincinnati Convention will give their votes for Linn Boyd, for a candidate for the Presidency.

We must place it upon record that several days past heavy teams have been engaged in hauling flour from Frankfort on the ice. No difficulty has been found in crossing the reach at Bald Hill Cove, on the ice, a very unusual thing at this season of the year.

Four large ship masts were brought into the city a day or two since, on the railroad. These masts were purchased in Philadelphia, and were taken from thence to Portland by a sea-going vessel, and from Portland by rail. This is a long journey for masts to come to the Pine Tree State.

GAS.—Timothy G. Cates, well known to our citizens as an experienced workman, has taken rooms over the Gas Company's office, 27 West Market Square. See his advertisement in another column.

The Philadelphia Pennsylvanian, the leading Democratic organ of Pennsylvania, contains a long address to the Democracy of the United States in favor of James Buchanan for the Presidency.

The Roman Catholics have purchased a site for a large and splendid Cathedral in Portland. Adjoining this site is the mansion of Mr. Coetre which is to be made a parsonage.

The Liquor Bill after having been amended in 32 places, has passed the Senate 13 yeas, 4 nays; absent and dodged 9.

The House have appointed as its committee of arrangement to give Judge Davis a hearing, Messrs. Levenseler, Talbot, Fuller, Blake and Lindsay.

Republican District Committees.

The following gentlemen have been appointed Committees to call Conventions in the several Congressional Districts:

First District.—L. O. Cowan, Biddeford; James Morton, West Buxton; Abraham Gilpatrick, South Berwick; Jedediah Jewett, Portland; Albert Sanborn, Baldwin.

Second District.—J. D. Prescott, Farmington; Mark H. Dunnell, Norway; Sidney Perham, Woodstock; Nelson Dingley, Jr., Danville; William Gregg, Freeport.

Third District.—E. A. Burpee, Rockland; Samuel T. Hinds, Bristol; Joseph E. Clark, Wiscasset; Nehemiah Abbott, Belfast; B. M. Roberts, South Prospect.

Fourth District.—J. Nye, Jr., Waterville; Wm. Palmer, Gardiner; Wm. M. Reed, Bath; Jas. B. Dascomb, Bloomfield; D. B. Ham, Lewiston.

Fifth District.—John S. Sayward, Bangor; Lyndon Oak, Garland; Samuel W. Hoskins, Oldtown; Geo. A. Kimball, Athens; C. N. Gower, Monson.

Sixth District.—Robert O. Stickney, Calais; Ignatius Sargent, Machias; Amos E. Simpson, Sullivan; Nahum T. Hill, Bucksport; J. H. Hall, Presque Isle.

Voted, That the Committees of the several Congressional Districts, be requested to call Conventions previously to the fifteenth day of May, for the choice of delegates to the National Convention, each District being entitled to three delegates, according to the laws fixed by the Pittsburg Convention.

Voted, That the basis of representation to the Congressional Conventions, unless otherwise directed by the Congressional Committees, be as follows:—One delegate to each city, town and plantation; an additional delegate for every hundred votes cast for the Republican candidate for Governor in 1855; and for a fraction over fifty votes, a delegate additional.

Republican newspapers in the State are requested to publish the above Committees.

Per order of the Repub. State Com.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Courier and Enquirer furnishes the following information in regard to the meeting, last week, of the National Republican Executive Committee:

"The Executive Committee appointed by the Pittsburg Republican Convention met here and organized on Wednesday. On Thursday the meeting was attended by many leading members of Congress, representing the united Republican and American parties. The debates were exceedingly interesting. Mr. Speaker Banks made perhaps the most elaborate and striking speech. He urged that the call should be drawn in terms so broad as to include all political associations in the country, under whatever name, opposed to the extension of slavery into free Territories, and to its encroachments upon the rights of the Free States. He referred to the gross outrages perpetrated by the authority, or at least with the connivance, of the administration, and declared that hostility to it must be a controling feature in the organization of the party which it was the object of the Convention of the 17th of June to inaugurate.

Mr. F. P. Blair, the member of the committee from Maryland, read an able and well written paper, which he proposed as an address to the people of the United States. Its scope appeared to be somewhat too limited, as it purported to be an appeal from the committee acting in the name of the Republican Convention at Pittsburg. Mr. Banks, Mr. Colfax of Indiana, Mr. H. B. Stanton of New York, and others, thought that the committee should take the responsibility of invoking the people to act in their primary capacity, and to form a union for the choice of a pure, honest, and capable man as President. The Convention to be called should not represent the Republicans alone, but should embrace Know Nothings and all others determined to resist the dangerous doctrines and the tyrannical measures of the party in power.

The result was a call unanimously agreed to for a People's Union Convention, to be composed of delegates from each Congressional district and six from each State, to meet at Philadelphia on the 17th of June, for nomination of President and Vice President.

The committee adjourned in the best possible spirits, and in full confidence that an organization has been commenced which will sweep the North and will deserve the respect and support of the South."

THE COLORED POPULATION OF CINCINNATI.—The Cincinnati Sun says that the colored people of that city number about 5000 souls. Of their occupations and wealth it is stated—there are five physicians, one of whom has a very large practice among both whites and blacks; twelve grocers; thirty music and school teachers; five daguerreotypists; one paper ruler; five brick-layers and stone-masons; two trunk-makers; twelve dealers in market; five or six boot and shoemakers; a number of excellent tailors, blacksmiths and carpenters; and one hundred milliners, dressmakers, shirt makers, and tailoresses. Among them is Henry Boyd, one of the largest and best cabinet manufacturers in the city, who is worth at least $40.000; J. P. Ball, R. G. Ball, and J. C. Ball, who take as fine daguerreotypes as are taken in the world, and who are worth $30,000 at least.—The names of 13 of these colored people are given, whose property is valued at $10,000; three $6000; five $5000; one $4000; one $3000; one $9000; one $8000; one $12,000; four $14 000; six $15,000; four $20,000; five $30,000; two $40 000. The names of twenty-five others are given, and it is stated that there are many others, whose names are not mentioned, have property ranging in value from three to twenty thousand dollars.

Voices from Christmas.

HAMBURG, GERMANY, 1855.

"Christ-market," or Christmas market, begins fourteen days before Christmas. And now the staid old city of Hamburg puts on a wondrous look of life. She is as young, and gay, and merry as a shady-side maiden lady receiving attentions. The green leaves of Spring, the flowers of Summer and the fruits of Autumn have met, to have a Winter day's visit. And all the wondrous devices and machinations of man are here too; and, together they hold the city like a host of invited guests; and all the people go to see them, and have a good time. How every inch of available room is crowded! The foot passengers can hardly find their way. But never mind! Nobody talks of encroachments now. The more the merrier. A full house and a lively time is the song for Christmas. Women's rights, and men's rights, and law, and politics, and preaching are all swept up into one heap, and good-natured humanity sits triumphant astride.

And now the great market squares are green with forest trees, and white beneath, with a thousand little tents. And, on either side of the streets, are long lines of booths. They are but fragile tabernacles, located wherever they can catch up a precarious existence. The roof is only a bit of canvas, and the frame a few rough sticks, and the whole is borne by that most patient of all creatures—a wheelbarrow,—long and strong, who stands all day with one foot in the street, and one on the sidewalk, and his head in the gutter. And yet, equally patient stand the various and indescribable Genii who preside over the wonderful collections. All the day long, they too are there—the Jewish old men, the shrivelled crones, and the gipsey-looking dames, with their careless, plump visages. When you first look from your window in the morning, they have already taken their places. At dinner time, and after time they are still there.—and when the streets grow dark, and the gas lamps are lighted, each little sanctum of commerce boasts its bit of candle, and the trade goes briskly on. The evening wears away. Nine o'clock comes, and they only stamp their great wooden shoes merrily on the pavement, to warm the huge feet within. And now again from the church-towers you hear faintly the four quarters, and then the great hammers beat ten on the heavy bells, and the sound goes waving and booming through all the city. Already one little light has faded, and now another, and another. Half an hour later and the streets are deserted. The long lines of gas lights still burn, and perhaps a heavy carriage thunders by you, and rumbles away in the distance. But the thousand little twinkling lights are gone, and the little white coverings are gone, and the great tide of human hearts is gone. They are all safely housed under the old tile roofs. One day more of cold and toil, and waiting, and hope and disappointment is past. It will never trouble them again. Perhaps they are already sleeping. Mysterious human life! You walk slowly to your lodgings, and, as you muse on the coming and going of the great scene, I seem to hear you measuredly murmuring—

> "They fold up their tents like the Arabs,
> And as silently steal away."

And through all these stirring days that usher in Christmas, the air is alive with flags. They stream gaily from their standards on the towers, or wave pendant from the high windows and balconies over the streets. They betoken marriage in high life, and whole circles of friends thus emblazon the affair. You cannot help thinking of the old knight-errant days, when heroes won their brides under just such flaunting colours and gilded spear-heads;—and perhaps you stop to philosophize, and take comparative views of human happiness. But nay! Spare us this time.

And now Christmas—real, once-a-year Christmas is at hand. Yes! It is actually growing dark with the shadows of Christmas eve,—the culminating point of all the wonderful times written in the great almanac of children's hearts. Come! Throw down your books and let us see what the outside world is doing. How bright the streets are! The very gas seems to have a merrier twinkle than usual. The shop windows are a perfect blaze of light and wonder. The grave old folks stop to gaze as they pass and even tread on one another's corns; and the little folks crowd in, and repeat the gratifying operation. It's the only way they have of making their influence felt in high society. Frouzy urchins and little dames, who never had a shilling of their own, and who have no reasonable expectation of owning one at present, are as active, and eager, and delighted as anybody. All the blessed evening they wander from window to window, and drink in the wondrous glare with their distended little eyes. They watch the flames of gas that are trained into curious devices, and, as they gaze, the cheery light steals in, and builds up glowing futures in their little brains, and puts new life into the dark commonplace corners of their little hearts. Philosophic little crusaders to the shrine of happiness! Every path of life leads them to it, and it stands at every point on both sides of the way! Always finding what they are always seeking, because they have not yet grown wise enough to pass by it now, and pursue it only in the ever-vanishing distance.

But here is the Bazar. Shall we go in? At other times it is free, but Christmas isn't other times. The expense, however, as you will soon perceive, is levied so skilfully that you "cannot feel it." We pay four shillings, or about seven cents for a ticket, and now we are inside and as nobody offers to take our tickets we will put them in our pockets. And here, too, everything has grown wonderfully green and gay, and the in-doors community of shops has waked up into new life. In fact, "business has revived." You see plenty of would-be pretty girls, both in the balconies, ready to flirt with you, and in the shops, ready to serve you, but really they are not half so pretty as those at home. All the dainties of the continent and of the far-off isles are before you, and the air is full of music all about you. Now you spy the little placards that say "Tickets taken here at their full cost." So buying a ticket is only giving bonds for patronage to the extent of seven cents. Well, it is consoling to know that our stock hasn't fallen. Let's comfort ourselves, and believe in England's doctrine. She says, you know, that they "don't feel the expense of the war," because the money is borrowed of their own people, and the purchases are made from their own people, so that the money goes back again to their own people, and that is nothing more than that their own people take money out of one pocket, and put it into the other." So England says, and it must be true; for, if it isn't true, then England is wrong; and England, as everybody knows, is infallible in matters that pertain to political economy. So, then, here are "Berlin pancakes" that might just as well be called doughnuts, and here is regular Yankee gingerbread, and here are sandwiches, and small-fry cakes of all shapes and quantities, and here are sauces, and meats of all kinds, from the luscious dried goose-breasts, whose animated gizzards once roamed happily over the great plains of Mecklenburg, down to the suspicious links, near which it is considered improper to whistle. And now if you would rather carry your ticket in your stomach than in your pocket, we can make the transfer. You know it will only be changing from one pocket to another, and we shan't feel it in the least—that is—I mean—if it digests well. By my eyes! Here is something not often seen here. Veritable pea-nuts;—the old friends of our college days—the emblems of republicanism, and straight out soft shells in addition. I invest my scrip in pea-nuts. And now we might sit all the evening, on velvet lounges, and watch the ladies, and crack our soft shells.—I mean the pea-nuts—and listen to the music, and study characters and costumes, and note national differences, and imagine ourselves already very wise and rapidly growing wiser, and take it for granted that the earth was designed especially as a sort of exercising ground for our wonderful powers; and that the various Gentiles who wander thereon in all phases of life, were given as a text-book, from which we, our particular selves, are to study out and exemplify the great problem of human happiness. But we are getting dreamy again. Let's move on.

In the distance you can see a great illuminated canvas, and now that we come nearer we can make out the words "Apollo Saal," which mean Apollo Saloon. There are a hundred like it in Hamburg. It costs another seven cents to go in, and this time it is a dead expenditure. But what a crowd! and what half decorations! and how many comical things! and what innumerable little shops all through the halls, and niches, and arches and adjoining passages. In the middle of all, whirling about the trunk of a huge Christmas tree, is a revolving platform. Little horses stand on it, and little cars and carriages, and swings are suspended over it, and little flags wave in the fictitious air which its whirling makes, and little boys and girls ride round and round to the sound of gay music. Some brave heroes bestride the figures of rampant lions and tigers, and winged serpents and grim-toothed crocodiles,—and one is on a stand looking old hippopotamus, but he goes as fast as the rest; there's nothing like being "in the crowd,"—and so they all ride in state before the eyes of their admiring parents. Now the music stops, and the motion stops, and the glee of the riders stops. They must descend from their proud thrones, and others go up. Again the music sounds and the wonderful chariot moves on, and the children clap their hands with delight, and the little caged birds sing in the foliage above. But there, at the end of the room before us! See that manufactured giantess sitting over the crowd. She holds a baby which possesses one merit at least, that of being quiet. She seems to be looking about for friends and acquaintances, and recognizing them with a familiar nod. Now she sees us, and down goes her head. Bless your construction, old lady! You are wonderfully attentive to strangers, especially when one considers that you have no heart. And now let us hurry around, for we have no time to study the funny pictures, and the images, and the dumb musicians with their ludicrous masks, who are sawing away with all their might and not making a bit of noise. Nor can we stop to hear the speech of the comically dressed fellow, from his pulpit in this corner, nor to see the puppets, playing Punch and Judy in that corner, nor the magician performing in the other, all with their respective crowds of admirers. But take care of yourself or you might be trodden under foot, for here comes the grandfather of all giants. Gulliver-among-the-Lilliputians! What a man! He leaves the Barnum manufactures all in the shade. We couldn't reach high enough to shake hands with him, and I doubt if he could stoop any without falling over; so we'll let him pass. Hush! How beautifully that bird sings! The curtains divide and—monstrous!—he is coming—let's run! Harpies and flamingoes and ostriches could never make any pretensions by the side of him. He is more than ten feet high before you get to him, and he marches over the heads of the people, and sings as unconcernedly as a lark in mid-heaven. Surely we have come into a strange world—Just up there under the musicians, protruding from the side of the gallery, is a huge woodcock's head with bills at least two feet long. I suppose the rest of him is on the other side. He plays the cymbals, and all so gravely, that you must laugh as soon as you see it. In fact everything is just as comical as it can be, and the grum fellow who can sit here to-night and not grin, ought to be sent to the dentist's to-morrow, and made to hold his mouth open the whole day.

Yonder stands an Arabian negro selling cigars. He has a white robe wrapped around him and a white turban mounted on his head, all for the sake, I suppose, of cultivating his niggerhood by contrast. The people stare at him vastly, for darkies are curiosities in this latitude. Here, if you like, this strange looking dame, with the wild, gipsey eyes, will tell your fortune for a shilling; I advise you, however, to give her two, if you try her skill; then your mysterious future will stand out before you in a halo of unfading splendor.—There, where the ball is swinging on a string by the side of the ten little pins, you may gamble on a small scale. If you knock down six at a stroke you have won, and they give a couple of pencils, or a cake of soap, or something else worth a shilling, and you pay a shilling for the stroke. Now isn't that a fair business transaction? If you don't win, you pay a shilling for the stroke, and get nothing in return. Come! let's go! We might be tempted. We are only poor human Yankees, and these Dutchmen are so shrewd.

Ten o'clock in our own room, and the little turf fire burns cheerily. Let us sit down and think of the friends at home. Heaven bless them all!—for you know Christmas eve is just beginning with them.

Col. Forney has withdrawn from the Washington Union for the purpose of advocating the election of Mr. Buchanan to the Presidency. Gen. Pierce took up Forney a poor adventurer and made him rich, but Forney seeing Pierce in a political decline has forsaken him.

THE CHICAGO ELECTION.—And how it was carried.—A private letter received in this city, from a gentleman of the first respectability in Chicago, says;

The election is over. Whiskey and Nebraska have triumphed. The Republican ticket is beaten throughout, except in the choice of two or three Aldermen in respectable wards. The grog-shops were open to all drinkers gratis. The gutters and canals were raked and scraped of their festering corruption, and voters were imported by hundreds, from neighboring towns. Between one and two thousand illegal votes have been cast. In one strong Irish ward no challenging was allowed, and voters were poured in in a steady stream from other wards as fast as wagons could bring them up. The streets were filled with drunken, squalid wretches, yelling, "Hurrah for Dyer!" The upshot of all this is a defeat of the anti-Nebraska ticket, by about 600 majority, equal to about half the number of illegal votes cast.—Yesterday was a celebration corresponding to the event. A drunken, bloated mob filled the court house yard, and were addressed most violently by the stump orators, who told them if the anti-Nebraska party had conquered, the streets would have run with innocent Irish blood. They promised that every policeman should be discharged, and the liquor traffic left undisturbed. I hope that a proper reaction may follow this excess, and that a year from now order and decency may triumph. If the illegal votes thrown in the Seventh ward were rejected, the Republican candidates for Mayor, Collector and Surveyor would be elected; if all the illegal votes were cast out, the whole Republican ticket would be elected by 600 majority.—Boston Journal.

PATENT COPPER-COATED IRON SPIKES, BOLTS, DECK BOLTS, COPPERED SHEET IRON.

With all kinds of FASTENINGS used for Ships, from the only manufacturers in the United States—C. & J. MARSHALL, Newport, Del.—superior in strength, and at about ONE-HALF the cost of Copper Fastenings.

Orders sent to TRAIN & PHIPPS, No. 41 Commercial Street, Boston, or to the subscriber, (who is the only Agent for their sale and manufacture in the New England States,) will meet with prompt attention.

Samples sent to order, with certificates from A. A. HAYES, Assayer to the State of Massachusetts, also of Committees on Science and the Arts of the Franklin Institute, Philadelphia, and of those who have used and are using the Fastening.

[Copy of a Letter.]
BALTIMORE, Jan. 8, 1856.

Messrs. C. & J. Marshall—Gentlemen: At the request of your Agent in Baltimore, in regard to our opinion and experience of your copper coated spikes, we, without hesitation, say we believe them the best substitute for copper yet introduced, and better fastening for ships, inasmuch as you have the strength of iron with the preservative qualities of copper.

We have used some of your Spikes in old vessels as a substitute for copper, and have had occasion to draw them out a year afterwards; and found them with the coating as firm as when they were driven, and with no appearance of oxydation.

Very respectfully yours,
(Signed) JOHN D. FARDY & BRO.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE

ATLANTIC,

AT NEW YORK.

Negotiations for Peace nearly concluded.

No news from the Pacific.

NEW YORK, April 2.

The Collins Steamship Atlantic, has arrived at this port, bringing Liverpool dates to the 19th of March.

Peace is considered as virtually concluded, and the arrival of the Prussian Plenipotentiary was alone awaited to sign the protocols.

A son is born to the Emperor and Empress of France.

The British Parliament was not in session, owing to the Easter recess.

Nothing had transpired respecting American affairs.

Nothing has been heard of the Pacific.

Liverpool Markets.

Breadstuffs wholly unchanged, although a dull tone pervaded the market. Sugars active and buoyant. Coffee dull.

Great Britain.

Parliament has adjourned over the Easter holidays.

Mr. Dallas has proceeded to London.

Mr. Buchanan has taken formal leave of the Queen. Lord Palmerston accompanied Mr. B., and in this act the English papers see an indication that the Premier desires to stand well with the United States.

The King of Belgium has arrived in London to attend the confirmation of his god-daughter, the Princess Royal, the Queen's eldest daughter.

The young prince of Prussia, son to the heir of the throne, is about to re-visit England with a view to be betrothed to the said princess Royal. Last year when this youth came on the same errand, the British Press scouted the alliance, but times have changed since then.

A deputation of friends of Poland waited on Lord Palmerston, and presented a memorial, begging him to give instructions to the British Plenipotentiary at Paris to insist on the restoration of Poland. Palmerston merely replied that the subject should have the consideration of Government.

A verdict of murder has been returned by a Coroner's jury, in the case of Dove, charged with having poisoned his wife with strychnine. This case is remarkable from the medical testimony that strychnine can be detected with certainty a considerable time after death.

Italy.

The Minister of War at Turin has by despatch of the 19th ult., authorized the Commander-in-Chief of the Sardinian forces in the Crimea to grant leave of absence for the sick in certain specific cases, to the others and officers under his orders.

The Minister of Finance of Parma has issued a decree allowing the exportation of rice, which had been prohibited 2 years ago, on account of the scarcity of food.

Turkey.

News from Constantinople by telegraph, is to the 6th inst.

The Divan, considering the revolutions of commercial men, renounces the projected issue of 100,000,000 of paper.

Spain.

The Madrid Epoca says, "The representatives of the Western Powers have received telegraphic despatches, announcing the early conclusion of peace, as more than probable."

It is said in political circles, that Lord Howden has received orders from the English Government, to suspend the purchase of mules and other means of transport.

In Cortes the Minister of the Interior, in answer to a question, declared that the Government was firmly determined to maintain order at Bejar, where it was in danger of being disturbed by dissensions between masters and workmen, and he added that it would energetically maintain order everywhere.

Accounts from Madrid state that bands of brigands were scouring the country and spreading incendiary proclamations against the Spanish.

Switzerland.

The Ticinese Gazette announces that the ratification of the commercial treaty between Great Britain and Switzerland were exchanged at Berne on the 5th.

Berne papers state that the Federal Council of Switzerland has commenced discussing the question of the separation of Canton of Ticino from the Dioceses of Como and Milan. The clergy of the canton have sent in a petition against the separation, denying several of the assertions made in the law, by the Ticinese Council of State, and declaring that in case the separation should take place, they should prefer the establishment of a bishopric of Ticino, to be incorporated with a Swiss bishopric.

All is quiet politically in the republic.

The Semi official Journal of Stockholm in its number of the 4th, announces that the Emperor of the French has chosen Queen Josephine his relative as God-mother of his child. The Despatch of the Government containing the invitation to the Queen, was presented by the French Ambassador on the 25th ult. A letter declares that both the Swedes are well pleased with the distinction.

Prussia.

A despatch by telegraph from Berlin mentions that M. De Hevelt is to discharge the duties of President of the Council during the absence of the Baron De Manteuffel. M. De Bailon will take the temporary charge of the foreign department.

The Baron Zedlitz has been officially appointed director-General of the police in place of M. Hinkeldy. A subscription has been opened for the widow and nine children of the late director—4000 thalers were put down by three or four wealthy individuals belonging to the Bourse. In a very short space of time the subscription reached 10,000 thalers.

The journals of the [illegible] are laboring to represent the duel as the result of a private quarrel. The slightest allusion to the incident might produce the most disastrous effects in the present excited state of the populace and middle classes of Berlin.

The late unhappy event has produced general sympathy with the King who is supposed to be thwarted by the nobles.

The War.

800 Bashi Bazouks have been brought back from Adrianople.

The state of the hospitals has improved, but we have to lament the death of two French Surgeons.

The dealers at Kamiesch are hoping to sell to the Russians during the armistice.

Gen. Mitchell has replaced Gen. Vivian who is still sick.

New Russian troops have arrived in Bessarabia.

The Tartars at Eupatoria fear the consequences of peace—a great number of them will follow the allies when they retire.

Some bandits have been killed at Sarin.

Latest.

London Wednesday morning.

The Paris bulletin of yesterday says, the Empress and child are doing well

Advices from Africa of Feb. 25, state that the coast is healthy but business dull. There had been disturbances on the cape coast in which 30 natives were killed and 100 wounded.

Denmark.

From the London Shipping Gazette, "We announced in our impression of Saturday, that the conferences at Copenhagen, upon the Sound Dues had been again adjourned, in order to gain time The American Government, it appears, has consented to prolong the obligation of the treaty existing between the U States and Denmark, which was about to expire on the 14th of April for a further term of two months, on the express understanding that something will be done in the meantime towards the abolition of the Sound Dues We trust that Denmark will be able to comply with the terms of this understanding, and the concession on the part of the United States, will meet with that success which it seems to challenge at the same time, we must protest against the recommendations on this subject in the Times of this morning, to the effect that because the Sound Dues are the staff of life to Denmark, and the Bread by which as a nation she exists, and further, because a great part of the Danish foreign debt has been contracted in this country, and assigned to British Bondholders, that therefore this country should consent to pay Denmark a large sum of money to effect the abolition of the Dues Has our contemporary taken the trouble to ascertain whether Denmark is entitled to lay these tolls at all? We are told that if the $35,000,000 demanded by Denmark for the capitalization of the dues, British shipping will benefit to English money in the proportion of between £78,000 the present sum paid by the country in the shape of dues, and £45 000, the interest of the sum which it is proposed England shall pay by way of capitalization But who is to pay the $45,000? Not the shipping interest, surely Upon what principle can Government justify the bill which they have just past for the abolition of passing tolls, levied in this country on shipping, if they should be induced to determine that with respect to foreign passing tolls, not only compensation shall be paid, but be paid by the shipping interest. We believe, as we have affirmed on every occasion the subject has been under discussion, that Denmark had never any right except by treaty, to levy these obnoxious tolls, and that at the expiration of the treaty now in existence, British ships would have a right to pass into the Baltic, without leave of Denmark, and of course without submitting to be taxed by that State

Are the United States going to pay their share of the sum demanded for the capitalization of the dues, or, when Denmark has exacted all she can from European commerce, are American ships to ride through the Sounds, free from the exactions from which other maritime countries had to purchase exemption? This is a question which must be answered before the subject of compensation can be permitted to be opened in this country. Whatever the issue may be, it must be perfectly understood that British ships will no longer submit to pay these passing tolls to foreign States, or will the shipping interest consent to be saddled with the cost of compensation to foreign powers for the abolition of such imposts as our Government has admitted in the present session to be iniquitous and unjustifiable, as regards the passing tolls on shipping levied at our own ports."

From the Spectator, "The whole question of hostility has been created on this side As a people the Yankees have very little care about Central America or any other outside question There is always a horde of adventurers willing to seek their fortune by the sword, by intrigue, by playing the cuckoo with some adjacent State or by any other mode. These people constitute a class whom the American Government is powerless to restrain but they represent a national tendency rather than a national action Their restraint is a question of police rather than of international law They may be a nuisance to their neighbors but [illegible] or any other great imperial action, can no more keep them in check than they could keep in check, the passenger pigeons of the West, or the locusts of the East, we should do quite as much in that way by a friendly demeanor bespeaking the co-operation of the Government, and of the moderate part of the American people, as we can do by bluster, therefore is only surplusage under cover of which indiscreet men could appeal to rows and embroil the two countries in a war which the real public on either side would abominate as a calamity and a loss If the effect is to restrain the Yankees in Central America let us endeavor to do so, but endeavor by the most practical means and not by means which will at once give the adventurers their opportunity in the shape of war while it would hand over New York and Liverpool to pirates, and sow beggary broadcast in Florida, and Lancashire This is a subject so vital to the interests of our public as to the Americans, but we are under the dominion of a certain fashion by favor of which at present our Journalist without thinking of the serious consequences that may attend Irresponsible use of the pen are making displays of a hostile spirit towards America, which mean little at the bottom, but are irritating now, there are many men in that country to the question entirely as a matter of business, who sympathized with our own sober citizens in desiring to put a control upon the follies of officials and offences of adventurers, but who find in this bluster of the press a counteraction instead of an aid The Bullying articles that we export are a justification for bullying articles on that side, and for bullying speeches in Congress, and our own statesmen derive in turn a justification from the bullying they have provoked The sober men on the other side have their co-adjutors here, appearances notwithstanding, but the dust that the noisy [illegible] are suffered to raise hides those two practicable views from each other's sight.

As to the questions between the two countries they are not in themselves difficult. There are no difficulties to overcome that may not be overcome. The greatest chance to procure a settlement in either case would be a fair discussion and an appeal to the spirit of justice on both sides Nothing hinders that appeal but the bluster, and nothing we truly believe permits the blustering to have been carried so far but the passive ignorance or indifference of the English public

Washington, April 2

Senate. The Kane resolution was postponed

Mr Fessenden spoke on the Bulwer Clayton treaty in opposition to harsh measures, and in favor of settling the differences between this government and Great Britain by negotiation.

Mr Cass argued that we should take a decided stand for the maintenance of our rights. The further consideration of the subject was postponed.

The three-million armament bill was then taken up, and Mr Fessenden, in allusion to the enlistment question, expressed the opinion that Mr Crampton ought to be dismissed because after the publication of the official correspondence, it is impossible that he can receive that respect which should be entertained for the representative of a foreign power. Speaking of the Clayton Bulwer treaty he censured Senators for taking so much pains to prove that Great Britain has no good title to Central America, for if our construction of that treaty is correct, it makes not the least difference whether her title is good or bad, or whether she has any, since she has abandoned it all, be it more or less. A refusal or neglect to carry out treaty stipulations, although involving a desecration of faith, does not necessarily justify war Great Britain does not pretend to interfere with our rights nor do anything conflicting with our interests, and we should wait until she gives occasion before we interpose in Central American affairs. If we expel her in that quarter not one foot of the territory will be ours We have no claim to it. As to giving a year's notice to Great Britain to vacate, and in the meantime to prepare for war, he was opposed to it.

Mr Cass said he had watched the manifestation of public sentiment in England, and he could see no use in continually protesting, unless some more definite action be taken He did not suppose England would retreat at all, and it was not probable she would declare war against us Why should she when she has got all she wants. The true question is, what ought we to do? Shall we continue to submit, or shall we take a decided stand that we will enforce and maintain our rights? Great Britain has changed her grounds three times in regard to the Clayton Bulwer treaty As fast as she is driven from one untenable position she takes refuge in another

Mr Butler gave notice that he should discuss the bill as a war measure. The farther consideration of the subject was postponed

Mr Bell of Tenn, alluded to the rupture between himself and Senator Clayton yesterday He regretted the occurrence, as it resulted from a misapprehension on his part. If the Senator from Delaware shall say he did not mean to be personally offensive in his remarks relative to Lieut. Maury, he was prepared to make the amende honorable (A voice, that's right —General good humor prevailed) Mr Bell, resuming, wished, however, to have it understood that without such disclaimer on the part of the Senator, it was no bargain (Voice, that's fair)

Mr Clayton replied, he did not doubt the fact that the Senator with himself regretted the disagreeable occurrence, especially as it originated in a misapprehension. He confessed that he felt warmly on that occasion and was sorry for its exhibition. He could not bear malice after the frank and manly explanation of the Senator from Tenn, and he was glad to renew the friendship existing between them for more than twenty years He tendered him his hand with all his heart Adjourned

House. The entire session was occupied in the consideration of the Senate's amendments to the West Point pension and deficiency appropriation bills, without coming to any conclusion thereon Adjourned

A. DUNBAR
HAS been very successful in completing several contracts for Door Frames Doors, Window Frames and Sashes and Blinds for good dwelling houses and other buildings to be erected in the city the coming season He has excellent workmen in his employ, and has superior stock, so that he is now able to supply to those about to build the best articles of Door Frames, Window Frames Sashes and Blinds made to any dimensions and of superior quality either for a whole building or for a less quantity The trouble and expense of building is very much lessened by having these articles made separately so that the carpenters have only to put them in their place in the structure

Mr Dunbar is also prepared to furnish Window Blinds ready painted and will hang them at the shortest notice

A MARVELLOUS REMEDY For a Marvellous Age!!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!!

The Grand External Remedy.

By the aid of a microscope we see millions of little openings on the surface of our bodies—Through these this Ointment, when rubbed on the skin, is carried to any organ or inward part. Diseases of the Kidneys, Disorders of the Liver, affections of the Heart, inflammation of the Lungs, Asthmas, Coughs and Colds, are by its means effectually cured. Every housewife knows that salt passes through bone or meat of any thickness—This healing Ointment far more readily penetrates through any bone or fleshy part of the living body, curing the most dangerous inward complaints, that cannot be reached by other means Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, and Scorbutic Humors.

No remedy has ever done so much for the cure of diseases of the Skin, whatever form they may assume as this Ointment No case of Salt Rheum, Scurvy Sore Head, Scrofula, or Erysipelas, can long withstand its influence The inventor has travelled over many parts of the globe, visiting the principal hospitals, dispensing this Ointment, giving advice as to its application, and has thus been the means of restoring countless numbers to health

Sore Legs, Sore Breasts, Wounds and Ulcers.

Some of the most scientific surgeons now rely solely on the use of this wonderful Ointment, when having to cope with the worst cases of sores, wounds, ulcers, glandular swellings, and tumors. Professor Holloway has, by command of the Allied Governments, despatched to the hospitals of the East, large shipments of this Ointment, to be used under the direction of the Medical Staff, in the worst cases of wounds It will cure any ulcer, glandular swelling, stiffness or contraction of the joints, even of 20 years standing

Piles and Fistulas.

These and other similar distressing complaints can be effectually cured if the Ointment be well rubbed in over the parts affected, and by otherwise following the printed directions around each pot

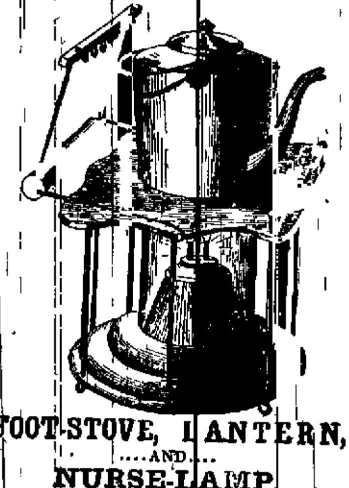
ARNOLD'S COMBINED



FOOT-STOVE, LANTERN,

....AND....

NURSE-LAMP.

ALBERT NOYES having purchased the exclusive right for manufacturing and vending in Penobscot county, the above valuable invention, is now prepared to offer them to the public,

As a FOOT STOVE it answers an excellent purpose, as it can be sufficiently heated in less than one minute to warm and dry the feet in the coldest winter weather, and will be found to be an indispensable article in traveling It is heated by an oil, alcohol or fluid lamp, the flame of which is protected from every external object.

As a LANTERN, it answers all the usual purposes, and is less likely to be overset, or get broken, and can be used as a house lamp with equal advantage

As a NURSE LAMP, and in cases of sickness, it is of great advantage in keeping drinks or medicines warm beside giving the light desired, and for cooking in small quantities For making tea, &c, it will be found very convenient, as a quart of water can be boiled in fifteen minutes, and a flat iron heat in the same length of time

In fact, the various purposes to which this neat apparatus can be put may be readily conjectured by every one No further description is required, as no one can misunderstand its general utility To say any thing more respecting its adaptability to a hundred purposes would just be telling what our readers can all see at once for themselves
